Colby-Sawyer At A Glance
Colby-Sawyer makes its third appearance in the NCAA Division III Volleyball Tournament, facing Smith College in a first round match on Thursday in Waterville, Maine. The Chargers earned an automatic bid into the NCAA Tournament by virtue of winning the Commonwealth Coast Conference Tournament on Saturday, defeating Endicott, 30-17, 30-26, 30-26. Smith, meanwhile, upset top-seeded MIT and third-seeded Coast Guard to win the New England Women’s and Men’s Athletic Conference Championship on Saturday.

Colby-Cole is the host of the eight-team New England Regional, which includes automatic qualifiers Colby, Mt. Ida, Bridgewater State, Colby-Sawyer, Smith and Emmanuel. Tufts and MIT qualified for the regional with an at-large bid.

The winner of Thursday’s match will advance to face the winner of the Tufts/Emmanuel match on Friday in Waterville, Maine.

Colby-Sawyer has advanced to the second round in both of its previous trips to the NCAA Tournament in 1999 and 2003. In 1999, the Chargers defeated Johnson & Wales before falling to Wellesley, while in 2003 Colby-Sawyer defeated Bridgewater State before losing to Springfield. The Chargers are 2-2 all-time in NCAA Tournament play.

Colby-Sawyer and Smith met in the first round of last year’s Eastern College Athletic Conference Tournament at Coast Guard with the Pioneers pulling out a 3-2 victory, rallying from a two-game deficit to win.

OPENING SERVE
The Colby-Sawyer women's volleyball team returns to the NCAA Tournament, taking on Smith College on Thursday in Waterville, Maine. The Chargers are in the tournament for the third time in their history, having also qualified in 1999 and 2003. The winner of Thursday's first-round match will play their winner of the Tufts-Emmanuel match on Friday in Waterville.

LAST WEEK
Colby-Sawyer (29-8, 9-0 CCC) swept through the Commonwealth Coast Conference, winning all three matches by a 3-0 score. The top-seeded Chargers defeated Salve Regina in the quarterfinals, 30-16, 30-14, 30-25, and downed fourth-seeded Gordon in the semifinals, 30-20, 30-20. In Saturday's championship match, the Chargers swept the second-seed, Endicott, 30-17, 30-26, 30-26. Kathy Couture (Greenfield, Mass./Greenfield) led the Charger offense in the championship match with 10 kills, while Jessica Niebuhr (Manitou Springs, Colo./Manitou Springs) had 25 assists. Amy Tarte (Meredith, N.H./Inter-Lakes) had 15 digs defensively, with Anne Coulier (Hudson, N.H./Bishop Guertin) collecting six of Colby-Sawyer's 11 total blocks.

ABOUT SMITH
Smith entered last weekend's NEWMAC Championship as the fourth seed but finished as the Champion, as the Pioneers knocked off top-seeded MIT in the semifinals and third-seeded Coast Guard in the championship match to earn their berth in the field of 60. The Pioneers are making their first trip to the NCAA Tournament since the 1988 season. Kate Sorensen is averaging 4.26 kills per game to lead Smith, while setter Lauren Perry is averaging 11.19 assists per game. Kate Shafer leads the Pioneers defensively with 5.43 digs per game.

THE SERIES
Colby-Sawyer and Smith have met just once with the two teams meeting in the first round of the Eastern College Athletic Conference Tournament last season at Coast Guard. The Chargers took the first two games, 30-20, 30-21, before the Pioneers rallied to take the next three, winning the deciding fifth game, 15-9. Anne Couther had a team-high 20 kills in that match for the Chargers, while Jessica Niebuhr added 52 assists and Amy Tarte had 32 digs.

ABOUT THE REGIONAL
Eight teams have been placed in the New England Regional in Waterville, Maine. Colby, the top-ranked team in the region, is the host and qualified by winning the New England Small College Athletic Conference title on Sunday, defeating Tufts. The Jumbos earned one of two at-large bids in the region, with the other going to MIT. The Mt. Ida (North Atlantic Conference), Bridgewater State (Massachusetts State College Athletic Conference) and Emmanuel (Great Northeast Athletic Conference) join Colby-Sawyer and Smith as automatic qualifiers at the regional. Four first round matches will be played on Thursday with the regional semifinals being held on Friday and the championship on Saturday. The winner of the New England Regional will advance to the NCAA National Championship, November 17-19 at Salem, Va.

COLBY-SAWYER VS. THE TOURNAMENT FIELD
Colby-Sawyer is 3-5 this season in matches played against NCAA Tournament teams. The Chargers split a pair of matches with the College of Notre Dame (Md.) at the Trip Sports Beach Blast Tournament to open the season, defeating the Gators, 30-22, 30-26, 30-26, in pool play. Notre Dame extracted its revenge in the semifinals, defeating the Chargers, 30-28, 30-27, 30-27 match to the Griffins. Back in New England, the Chargers lost to top-seeded Colby, 33-31, 27-30, 24-30, 25-30, 21-30, before falling to the hosts in five games, 30-26, 30-16, 25-30, 20-30, 13-15. Colby-Sawyer's final match against an NCAA Tournament team came on Oct. 19, losing in the championship of the Bridgewater State Halloween Classic to the Bears, 23-30, 24-30, 21-30.

COMMON ENEMIES
Colby-Sawyer and Smith have had four common opponents this season in Colby, MIT, Springfield, and Williams. In four matches against those schools, the Chargers are 0-4, losing to Springfield in three games, Colby and Williams in four and MIT in five. Smith is 5-3 in matches against those four opponents, going 2-2 against MIT, 1-1 against Springfield and 1-0 against Colby and Williams.

HEAD COACH CHAD BRAEGELMANN
In his fifth season as head coach of the Colby-Sawyer volleyball program, Chad Braegelmann has compiled a 106-57 mark overall, with a stellar 39-5 record in Commonwealth Coast Conference play. Braegelmann has led Colby-Sawyer to two of its three NCAA Tournament bids in the region, with the other going to MIT. Mt. Ida (North Atlantic Conference), Archbishop Williams (Eastern Nazarene Athletic Conference) and Emmanuel (Great Northeast Athletic Conference) join Colby-Sawyer and Smith as automatic qualifiers at the regional. Four first round matches will be played on Thursday with the regional semifinals being held on Friday and the championship on Saturday. The winner of the New England Regional will advance to the NCAA National Championship, November 17-19 at Salem, Va.

appearing, this year and in 2003, and has twice been named Commonwealth Coast Conference Coach of the Year. He has coached a pair of CCC Rookies of the Year (Kathy Couture in 2002, Jessica Niebuhr in 2003), a CCC Player of the Year (Jessica Niebuhr in 2005) and a CCC Libero of the Year (Amy Tarte in 2004). Braegelmann is assisted by sixth-year assistant coach and former Colby-Sawyer standout Kristin Anderson.

AWARDS ROLL IN
For the second straight season, five players have earned recognition by the Commonwealth Coast Conference. Kathy Couture and Jessica Niebuhr were both named to the All-CCC First Team for the second straight season, while Anne Coulter joined the pair on the first team. Senior Amy Tarte was named to the second team, while fellow senior Ashley Lorance (Pembroke, Mass./Silver Lake Regional) earned honorable mention honors. In addition, Niebuhr was named the conference's Player of the Year, while Couture earned Senior Scholar Athlete honors. Head coach Chad Braegelmann was also recognized, being named the league's Coach of the Year for the second time in his career.

A PASSING FANCY
Jessica Niebuhr became Colby-Sawyer's all-time career assists leader during the Oct. 7 win over Rivier. Niebuhr surpassed Heather Macohon's mark of 2,593 and hasn't stopped, being the first player in school history to record 3,000 career assists. Niebuhr enters the NCAA Tournament with 3,120 assists. The junior holds the single-season mark with 1,144, set in 2003, and the three-game (42 vs. Gordon, 9/24/05) and five-game (67 vs. Notre Dame (Md.), 9/3/05) match records.

CHARGER BLOCK PARTY
The senior class of 2005 will see the two most prolific blockers in history depart the program, as Anne Coulter and Ashley Lorance have demolished the old records in that category. Coulter is the school record holder with 375 career blocks, while Lorance is second with 310, the only two players in history to record more than 300 total blocks. Lorance held the single-season mark with the 124 she recorded as a junior in 2004, but Coulter has surpassed that number, collecting 127 blocks this season.

KATHY'S A KILLER
Kathy Couture became the fourth team member to break a career record this season, recording her 1,359th career kill on Oct. 18 against Wentworth. Couture is one of just three players to surpass 1,000 career kills, along with Sara Hammond (1,358, 1997-2000) and teammate Anne Coulter (1,147). Couture is currently 25 kills away from being the first player in school history to pass 1,000 career kills, along with Sara Hammond (1,358, 1997-2000) and teammate Anne Coulter (1,147). Couture is one of just three players to surpass 1,000 career kills, along with Sara Hammond (1,358, 1997-2000) and teammate Anne Coulter (1,147). Couture is currently 25 kills away from being the first player in school history with 1,500 career kills.

KAEGI JOINS THE ROTATION
Junior Suzie Kaegi (Sunapee, N.H./Sunapee), who saw limited action in just 33 matches during her first two seasons at Colby-Sawyer, saw herself in an expanded role in the Charger lineup this season. Kaegi is fifth on the team in kills with 135, close to three times her career total in kills entering the season. She had a career-high 16 kills against Notre Dame (Md.) on Sept. 3 at the

CAN YOU DIG IT?
Senior Amy Tarte became the school’s all-time career digs leader in the win over Plymouth State on Sept. 13. Tarte surpassed Mary Ann Prescott’s career total of 1,266 during the win over the Panthers and has gone on this year to break her own record for digs in a season with 566, easily breaking the 483 she had as a junior. Tarte also holds the Colby-Sawyer records for digs in a four-game match (32 vs. Southern New Hampshire, 10/23/04) and five-game match (39 vs. MIT, 10/15/05).

MORE MILESTONES
In addition to four players becoming career leaders this season in various categories, several players have reached some lofty statistical milestones. During the win against Keene State on Oct. 29, Jessica Niebuhr recorded her 3,000th career assist. She also went over the 1,000 assist mark for the season in the loss to Bridgewater State the same day. Ashley Lorance recorded her 300th career block in the win over UNH on Oct. 26, while Amy Tarte bested her own single-season dig record in the win over Keene State on Oct. 29.

SENIOR SALUTE
Colby-Sawyer held its Senior Day ceremony prior to the match against Eastern Nazarene on Oct. 22. The six seniors combine to make up the third-winningest class in Colby-Sawyer history and are the only class to make three post-season appearances (NCAA in 2003 and 2005, ECAC in 2004). Joining Kathy Couture, Anne Coulter, Ashley Lorance and Amy Tarte in the senior class are Becky Schaffer (Lakeland, Fla./Westminster School) and Sarah Blume (Herman, Minn./Wheaton).

FROM POINTS NEAR AND FAR
The 14 players on the Colby-Sawyer volleyball squad represent seven different states. New Hampshire is the most represented state, with five players hailing from the Granite State. Four members of the team are originally from Massachusetts, while the states of Colorado, Minnesota, Florida, New York and New Jersey have a single representative each.

A FIRST TIME FOR EVERYTHING
Colby-Sawyer’s match against Hunter on Oct. 28 was the first meeting for the two schools, a rather common theme this season. Colby-Sawyer has played seven different teams with the Chargers going 4-4 in the eight matches against those schools. First-time schools on the Colby-Sawyer schedule in 2005 include Fontbonne, Hastings, MIT, Mt. Ida, Notre Dame (M.d.), who the Chargers played twice, and Worcester State. Colby-Sawyer has played each team at the New England Regional at least once in its history.

HIT THE CENTURY MARK
Head coach Chad Braegelmann picked up his 100th career win at Colby-Sawyer in the Oct. 25 win over the University of New England. Braegelmann currently has 106 wins at Colby-Sawyer, trailing only current women’s basketball coach and assistant athletic director George Martin, who had 143 wins in the seven years he spent coaching the women’s volleyball team.

CAN WE ADOPT YOUR HOME?
Hopefully having a shared name with host Colby College will be an advantage for Colby-Sawyer at the New England Regional. When playing at Colby-Sawyer this season, the Chargers are a perfect 12-0 and have a 15-match winning streak dating back to last season. The 15-match winning streak is the longest in school history, surpassing the nine-match one the Chargers had in 1998. The last Charger loss at home came on Oct. 23, 2004, at the hands of Southern New Hampshire. The last home defeat to a Division III opponent came on Oct. 5, 2004, a 3-1 loss to Endicott. Still, with the match being on a neutral floor, the Chargers are 11-5 on the season on a neutral court.

PERFECTION!
Colby-Sawyer recorded its fourth undefeated season in Commonwealth Coast Conference play when the Chargers defeated the University of New England on Oct. 26. The Chargers have advanced to the NCAA Tournament in each of the last three times they’ve gone unbeaten in conference play, also recording the feat in 1999 and 2003. The Chargers also went undefeated in 1998 but fell in the conference championship match.

UP NEXT
Thursday’s winner will play the winner of the Tufts/Emmanuel match on Friday at 4:30 p.m. on Friday in Waterville, Maine, for the right to advance to the regional final on Saturday.
